Chef Madeline Lanciani

Ring Ding Bar is the creation of star pastry chef and child-of-the-50s Madeline Lanciani, whose culinary creativity and expertise is inspired by a lifetime of sweet stories. A real life Rose the Riveter and Food Network 'Chopped' Champion, Madeline rose to piquant provenance as the Plaza Hotel's first ever female head chef - one gutsy woman in a kitchen of 99 men - before opening New York's beloved Duane Park Patisserie 1992, which she continues to own and operate. She has been recognized continuously by publications such as The New York Times, Vogue, Zagat and many others over the years.

Handheld Heaven

The Original Artisanal Ring Ding

Ring Ding Bar is a creative and contemporary take on the classic 1950s hand-held dessert snack made for today with premium, all-natural ingredients. We're reintroducing the colorful spirit of 1950s baked America to sweet teeth all around the world, one Ring Ding at a time.

Handheld Heaven

Ring Dings are made handheld - no fork needed - to add a little color, fun and flavor to any moment, anywhere, anytime.

A Suite Sweet

We make our Ring Dings in an array of unique flavors: in addition to the classic chocolate and vanilla flavors Ring Ding Bar continues to introduce new creativity into snack cake canon like Nutella, French Toast, Funfetti, PB&J, Matcha, Cookies & Cream, Red Velvet and Banana Split.

Ring Dings is a registered trademark of McKee Foods Kingman. Used by permission.
